Kwame Nkrumah's Contribution to Pan-Africanism

An Afrocentric
Analysis

D. Zizwe Poe

In his book, Kwame Nkrumah's Contribution to Pan-Africanism: An Afrocentric Analysis, Professor Poe provides a unique, comprehensive and critical account of the political thought and practice of Kwame Nkrumah, a pioneer and pivotal leader in the Pan-African Movement from 1945-1966. Employing an Afrocentric approach in his study, he argues that the life and work of Nkrumah offer an essential philosophical foundation and strategic model of optimal agency in the pursuit of Pan-African initiatives and critical Afrocentric studies.

Professor Poe begins his account with a presentation of key terms and essential conceptual considerations engaged in developing his methodology and an Afrocentric paradigm. He then leads the reader easily and skillfully through a complexity of interrelated topics including: the development of Nkrumah's Pan-African ideas and their evolution as expressed in his various works; key persons and historical forces which shaped his agency, his national and Pan-African policies, his organizing practices; and a summary of his philosophical and practical legacy. This work is a critical contribution to Nkrumahist and Pan-African studies and a rich resource for understanding the history and current contours of Pan-African discourse and initiatives of our times.

"Dr. Zizwe Poe's work on Nkrumah is the best statement on the Pan-African characteristics and philosophy of the greatest African leader in this period. This book is compelling, articulate, well-researched, and extremely significant for both students and scholars. It will be a classic work."

"No other scholar has captured the significance of Kwame Nkrumah's contribution to African independent thought and practice as Dr. Zizwe Poe in his book, Kwame Nkrumah's Contribution to Pan-Africanism. While other scholars wrestle with the actualization of African agency within Nkrumah's vision, Dr. Poe squarely advances Nkrumah Studies by embedding his philosophies within a brilliant Afrocentric analysis."

"If the research and teachings of the centenarian Osagyefo Nkrumah can be advanced it has been done so by Dr. Zizwe Poe's text. It is the Afrocentric and Pan African scholar-activist GPS navigation device necessary for the voyage from ideological malaise to Pan African agency. Not often has there been research that addresses the connection of Afrocentric scholarship to Pan-Africanism and Pan-African activity. Dr. Zizwe Poe fills this void with his text titled, Kwame Nkrumah's Contribution to Pan-Africanism."
